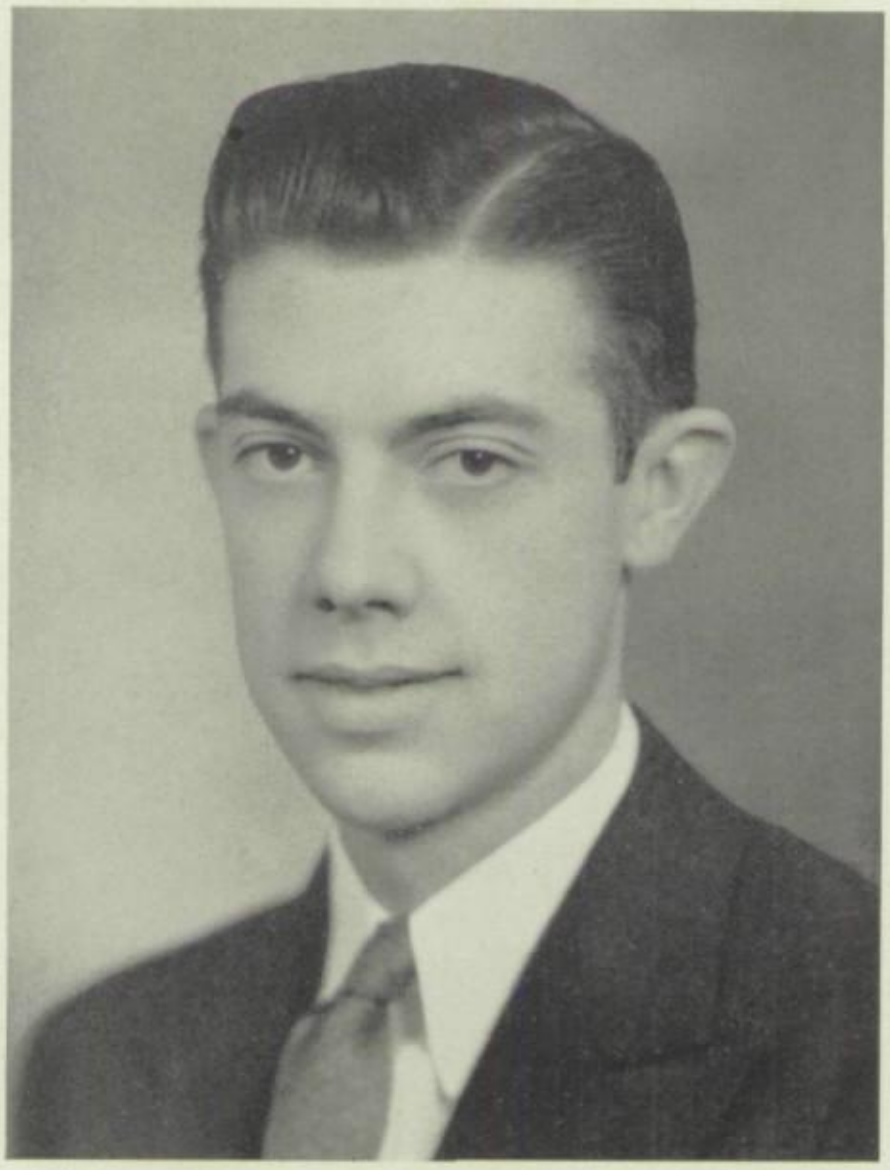
FOREWORD

Four long and weary years we, the Seniors, have labored to bring forth upon this school a new Nornir, conceived in unity and dedicated to the purpose of creating enjoyment for you. We have set aside a portion of it as a permanent memory of those who have given their time and effort in order that this Nornir might live. You may little note nor long remember what I say here, but you can never forget what we, the class of '36, did here at E. H. S. It is for you, the underclassmen, to continue the high standards of our school that we have so nobly carried on. You are the one to decide whether our labor has been in vain — the Nornir for which we have given the fullest measure of our devotion. We sincerely hope that this 1936 Nornir of the school, by the Seniors, and for the students, shall not perish from the earth but live on and on to sharpen the memories and gladden the hearts of every graduate.

DEDICATION



. . . TO MR. HAROLD RHEELING

We, the class of 1936, dedicate the Nornir to Mr. Harold Rheeling, our class dean, whose humor and companionship brings many happy memories to all of us; whose efforts and guidance have brought the class of '36 on the "wings of success" to their goal — graduation.

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

The curtain slowly closes. The last act is finished. The audience sits back quietly and thoughtfully muses over the interesting features and facts recently enacted before it on the stage of the Eichelberger High School. Low whispers of praise and congratulations speak well for the efforts of the actors. Who are they? The members of the graduating class of '36! One of the seniors, representing his class as a whole, steps out on the stage and reviews the preceding three acts.

ACT I. SOPHOMORE

"We were the first class to graduate from Junior High. Taking our place in Senior High we were termed "green" but we set out to live down that name. The boys went forth to prove our athletic leadership; the girls followed, likewise gaining credit for admirable sportsmanship. We were willing to learn! Timid at first, confidence came with our slowly growing success. "Jerry of Jericho Road" was well represented by our class and when we put across a "Soph-Senior" that the upper classmen applauded—we felt justified in our efforts. Our success, however, was not to stop at athletic, dramatic, and social ability. Many Sophomore names lengthened the honor rolls.

We had taken the first steps slowly but wisely. We hastened forward.

ACT II. JUNIOR

The Junior year marked the beginning of the slow merging of each individual into an organized unit. We were learning of the rich rewards that came from co-operation. Now we had our boys on the varsity squads of all sports. They had gained recognition through consistant efforts. Confident of talent for dramatics we put on our Junior Play—"The Youngest." It proved to be a success. The class was further represented by the capable handling of parts in the All-Star Play—"Growing Pains." But our "Junior Prom" topped previous efforts in social functions. It met with hearty approval and admiration from the class of '35. We had come far along the road to being successful Seniors.

ACT III. SENIOR

Seniors — Graduation! Linking these two thoughts we become for the first time a co-operative organization — the class of '36! Proud of our commendable record we stepped up to take our dignified positions. The class worked together in putting out one of the

PROPHECY
THE CLASS OF 1936

It is the evening of November 2, 1954. A city street lies drab and deserted beneath a misty rain. A man appears in the light of a street lamp. He glances furtively about him and enters a nearby doorway. Several minutes pass. Two more muffled figures appear from opposite directions, both looking backward over their shoulders. They turn at the same instant and each starts violently as he perceives the other. They evidently recognize each other, and they disappear together through the doorway. They mount a steep stairway to the top floor, where they enter a large room. There they join a number of other men who stand about in groups examining the apparatus which lines the room.

In the center of the room stands a large table littered with instruments, before which is seated a man with a white beard. He raps for attention, and the men fall silent. They listen attentively while he explains in technical language the principle of his new space-and-matter-penetrating ray, with which he hopes to be able to see any event occuring at the present moment in any part of the world. He concludes by saying that they will now witness the first testing of this device. He presses a button on the table before him and a screen at the end of the room glows faintly. He makes some adjustments of the controls before him, and a succession of blurred shapes rushes across the screen; finally one scene remains stationary and focuses into clearness.

It is the interior of a concert hall. Mary Allison, the famous concert pianist, is the soloist; and the orchestra is directed by the eminent French conductor, Monsieur Jacques Hopkins, in a new composition of R. Dmitry Bortner. Among the members of the orchestra are Ray Swartz, playing an oboe without a reed (they've found it sounds much better that way); Paul Shearer playing a tuba; and Harold Shoemaker, who plays a left-handed French horn; while Clair Kaltreider hammers the bass drum.

In the audience we see Kathryn Hostetter, music critic for a New York newspaper; Robert Klunk, Communist candidate for President, with his wife, the former Jane Fisher; Clair Hoffacker, who made his millions by creating a breed of chickens with three drumsticks, and his wife, Marjorie Rhone; Norman Witmer, the famous portrait painter; Robert Miller and John Trimmer, co-author of that best-seller, "How to be the Life of the Party;" and Mary Hoffacker, the first feminine Secretary of the Treasury.

The scene dissolves and another focuses on the screen. This is the annual session of the Liars' Club, and Chief Prevaricator Fremont Bollinger raps for order. Herm Garrett rises to tell the first one, but is promptly "booed" down. Lavere Masemer and John Cleveland, the big game hunters, start to tell of their adventures, but when they disagree on the number of whiffle-spoofs they caught in the Plum Creek, they are thrown out by Chief Bouncer George Yealy. When Donald Kellenberger tells how he shot a pink elephant in his papamas, * the members adjourn in disgust to the bar.

The scene again changes. This time it is a busy airport, a Stratosphere Plane stands ready for the night hop from Newark to Moscow. The pilot and the co-pilot, Dennis Morelock and Gherald Plank, climb aboard, followed by Roscoe Horner, the radio operator, Robert Lippy, the navigator, and Betty Hopkins and Mary Witmer, the stewardesses.

Meanwhile, a steady stream of passengers files aboard. They include Robert Stonesifer, the new ambassador to Russia, Harold Little, an engineer commissioned by the Russian Government to construct a dam on the Vodka River, his wife Mary Kellenberger, and Jean Moul, who plans to write a book on Russia. The last passenger is aboard, and as the hatches are bolted shut by "Ike" Gobrecht and Russel Wilson, the scene fades from the screen, and another takes its place.

We see a hill in the foreground on which is a ski jump and a bob-sled run. Charles Weist stands poised for the take off at the top of the ski jump, while Harold Artley and Mark Baker wait for him at the bottom with a first aid kit and a coffin. A bob-sled dashes around the curve in the run, carrying the American Olympic Team, Allen Schwartz, Louis Eck, Bob Erb, Laverne Worley, and Bernard Hoover.

In the background is a flagpole, on the top of which George Waltersdorff is trying for new record, with Glenn Worley hovering beside him in a helicopter while he secures an interview for the Dissociated Press. At the foot of the pole Harry Firor waits to serve a summons on the flagpole sitter.

Some distance to the left a long line of trees grows suspended from sky hooks about fifty feet above the earth. It has been found necessary to move the forests off the earth on account of crowded conditions. As

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

AS SOPHOMORES

As Sophomores, members of our class participated in all sports, although none of the boys got letters in basketball. Jim Lawrence secured a football letter. Scholastically, we held the same high place we had occupied in sports.

Although we had no play of our own, August Descheemaeker had a leading role in the All Star Play, "Growing Pains" while Caroline Fitz, Barkley Beidleman, Nadine Garrett and Edward McLorie had minor parts.

The class suffered a great loss during that first year when David Murphy, loved by all, was taken from our midst by death.

However, we ended our Sophomore year in a happy way by giving the Seniors a gala Farewell Dance with the Club Royal Orchestra furnishing the music.

AS JUNIORS

Our Junior year started with Max Pfaff, Jim Lawrence, and "Simie" Stokes, playing on the varsity football squad and receiving their letters. Soccer, which has been neglected in our school for some time, was brought back by our class. There were seven lettermen in this sport, while Marvin Reck acted as captain. Again we were active in sports.

The Junior Class Play, "The Boomerang," with Edward Bender and Pauline Geiman in the leading roles, was coached by Misses Menges, Brougher, and Fischer. This was an outstanding example of our success in drama.

We climaxed a good year with one of the best Junior Proms given to any Senior Class. This event will ring through our ears throughout the High School Career.

Early in the fall, we had chosen Paul Panebaker as president; Ross Coulson, vice-president; Nadine Garrett, secretary; and James McDonnell, as treasurer; and by their conscientious efforts and the guidance of Miss Fischer, our dean, the class of '37 has become a smooth-working class which will set out to better past records and to find a way to our final goal.

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

The Sophomore class of this year was active in all ways. They participated in scholastic as well as extra-curricular activities and succeeded in making a name for themselves.

Some of the Sophomores namely, "Joe" Lawrence, "Hank" Rutters, and "Ken" Craumer were awarded H's for varsity football. Basketball was also well represented by "Ken" Craumer, "Jack" Boschen, "Spark" Weisensale, "Joe" Lawrence, "Red" Hetrick, "Dew" Moore, "Mug" Attlesberger, "Hank" Rutters, "Quent" Alwood, "Rummy" Kennedy, and others.

Several of the Sophomores participated in the All Star-Play in which Glenn Markle took the leading male role. The play was pronounced a success and the audience was well pleased with the performance.

The Sophomores gave the Seniors the biggest and best Soph-Senior that has ever been given to a Senior class. The party was held May 22 and was carried out in a very clever manner.

The class of '38 was the first to benefit by the Hand Books and they helped us greatly, not only in finding our way about the building but in many other ways.

The Sophomores were also the first to have the privilege of getting H's for intramural sports.

The dues for the Sophomore year was set at fifty cents yearly and they elected to decide on the amount to be paid their Junior and Senior years when the time came.

Miss Stonesifer and Mr. Judge, our class deans, had no compaints to make about the co-operation given by the Sophomores and I am sure they will continue to show their excellent co-operation and school spirit throughout the rest of their High School career.

PROPHECY

the scene fades, we see Chief Ranger Hostetter approaching from the distance in a Model T airplane to make his daily inspection of the trees.

A new scene takes shape upon the screen, and we see the entrance to the new Sub-Atlantic Tunnel; a bus stops at the entrance. In it are Earl Stonesifer, holder of the world's records of seven seconds for the one hundred yard dash and fifteen seconds for the two hundred twenty; his wife, Beatrice Bentzel; Marion Morrison, the fan dancer, who amazed America, with her manager, Homer Meredith; Ralph Hoffacker, holder of the heavyweight boxing crown and his manager, Popeye Miller.

Ira Shue hopes to sell his latest invention, a fool-proof snake trap, to the Irish Government. Mr. Shue is concentrating deeply, working out plans for a silencer for his wife, Dorothy Fink. Louise Houck and Louise Bush, New York dress designers bound for Paris, run to catch the bus just as it pulls out. We see Bill Miller hanging on the spare tire. He's going to visit his uncle in Scotland. He doesn't know that his uncle is on the way to visit him.

Another scene appears. There is a large building with the sign "International Distilling Company, Manufacturers of concentrated Alcohol Tablets, Earl Rohrbaugh, President." Upon a beer barrel stands Frances Ketterman, president of the W. C. T. U., preaching on the evils of alcohol to anyone who will listen. From the main entrance of the distillery Betty Alwine leads her staggering husband, Curvin Barnhart, who is head pill tester. He has just been relieved by his assistant, Paul Grove.

Beside the distillery is the terminal of the Interplanetary Communications Service. A rocket ship stands by the platform. Lester Emmert announces in a loud voice that it is bound for the moon and points north.

The first aboard is Arthur Fridinger, leader of an expedition to the moon to collect fossils. He is followed by his assistants Donald Hahn and Roland Warner.

Francis Kinneman, with his wife, Evelyn Asper, and their twenty-two children, steps up to the ticket window, which is in charge of Stewart Rohrbaugh. The Kinnemans are being deported to the moon to relieve the overcrowded conditions on earth.

Other passengers are Robert and Lester Gouker, owners of cheese mines on the moon; Edgar Snively, professor of English at the New Oxford University, and his wife, Marion Kintzing; two bearded Russians, whom we recognize as Earl Heiser and David Little, those famous private detectives. They have been hired by Fritz Brady to find grounds for divorce from his latest wife, Evelyn Bender. Mr. Brady has already been married to and divorced from Lida Hufnagle, Henrietta Kerchner, Luella Gulden, Rebecca Martin, Mary Meckley, Margaret Klunk, Nadine Blettner, and Geraldine Bubb. They are followed by Frank Zeigler, world champion speed typist.

Mike Rebert appears, wandering along absorbed in calculations he is making on his cuff. He is working on his new theory of relativity. His wife, Beatrice Myers, attempts to rouse him from his daze and make him hurry, but without success.

Next to board the rocket is a group of school teachers on an educational tour. Among these we recognize Thelma Boose, Julia Everhart, Peryl Flickinger, and Mary Kessler.

This group is followed by Vance Strittmatter, a missionary to the moon, and his wife, Barbara Sterner and Vivian Warner, a famous tight-rope performer with her husband, That Darling Young Man on the Flying Trapeze, Richard Dixon.

A bus labeled "Colossal Continental Ballet Company" draws up at the platform and Naomi Shearer, Grace Butt, Bertha Frock, Mary Louey, Elizabeth Schwalm, Etta Thomas, Mildred Szwoyer, Leonelle Schue, Pearl Rickrode, and Harriet Rodgers step onto the platform. All this while a Salvation Army brass band composed of Lela Trone, Henrietta Sipling, Gladys Krebs, Eunice Arentz, Carolyn Dellinger, Miriam Bechtel, Julia Bowman, Catherine Feeser, Sidney Fuhrman, Blanche Renaut, Ann Mathias, and Grace Richter has been playing "The Music Goes Round and Round."

The last passenger hurries aboard the rocket. It is Vesta Walter, fat lady with Ringling Brothers Circus.

This scene fades and is replaced on the screen by the interior of an operating room. The patient on the table is Eric Barnitz; Earl Culp, the chief surgeon, is replacing the patient's gall bladder with one from a football. His assistant is Mary Hoffman. We recognize the anesthesist as Jean Stallsmith, and the nurses as Elinore Plank, Ann Thomas, Betty Diehl, Nadine Goodfellow and Mildred Cromer. This final scene fades from the screen, and the scientist at the table rises to announce that the experiment is a complete success.

Organizations

THE STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council began an eventful year by electing its first girl president. Jean Stallsmith was elected president; Barkley Beidleman, vice-president; Jean Moul, secretary, and Marian Kintzing, treasurer.

In the beginning of the year the Student Council took over the work of class elections which were held successfully. The Council adopted a system by which the flag on the campus should receive care. Each home-room has the responsibility of raising and lowering the flag for two weeks.

Living up to its program of furthering student activities the Council sponsored its first party and dance. Due to its successful reception, the Student Council was able to put across more dances. After establishing a system of choosing songs for assembly programs, the Council began to put into action its big project of sending formal written notes of thanks to persons or organizations outside of school who rendered service in any fashion to any organization of the school. This plan was well received and aroused interest in the work of the Student Council not only in school, but in town.

Throughout the year the Student Council worked always for the interest of the students and receiving the co-operation of all, completed a most outstanding year.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC CLUB

The term 1935-36 marks the fourth year of the existence of the Girls' Athletic Club. This club was organized in the year 1932 for the immediate purpose of increasing interest in intramural sports at a time when varsity sports for girls were being replaced by the former. Now that intramural sports definitely hold a place of foremost interest in extra-curricular activities for girls, the interests of the Girls' Athletic Club have widened so as to include further instruction and practice in all sports.

This past fall season found the members of the club on the tennis courts trying to improve their game and on the campus engaged in baseball competition. Gymnasium activities of the late fall included paddle tennis, volleyball, and tenniquoit. The winter months found the Girls' Athletic Club devoting all its time to perfecting the game of basketball. In the weeks during which the club did not have access to the gymnasium, the period was spent in playing ping-pong, and in discussing, learning, and teaching new games and stunts adaptable to various kinds of social gatherings.

It is believed that the program followed by the club will in general promote an attitude of sportsmanship and foster good-health ideals, that it will promote an interest in intramural games and give girls' athletics a more important place in the high school, and that, finally, it will develop leadership.

The following served as officers during the first semester: Vesta Walter, president; Helen Geiman, secretary-treasurer; and Lorraine Hankle, reporter. The officers for the second semester were as follows: Anne Jane Heltebridle, president; Lorraine Hankle, vice-president; Margaret Zinn, secretary-treasurer; and Geraldine Poist, reporter. Miss Ethel I. Weikert served as adviser to the club.

THE GIRL SCOUT CLUB

The Girl Scout Club was organized September 26, 1935. There were approximately thirty girls in attendance.

The Girl Scout program is designed to meet the needs of girls ten years of age and over for a leisure time program of mental, physical, and character building activities. It is based upon a belief in the educational value of small groups: in the value of purposeful work with the hands, and of the creative group activities, and in the possibilities of mutual helpfulness within and without the troop.

The program is not only recreational but educational as well. It provides girls with opportunities for living more fully, intelligently and wholeheartedly, and thus prepares them for a well-rounded adult life.

The Club had many plans in view for the future. It has had several parties, and dinner hikes, and it has planned for more. Peanuts have been salted to help finance a spring camping trip.

Projects which have been worked on during the year were beaded bags, book marks, candle holders, letters openers in apollo metal.

The Club organized as a troop which is divided into five patrols. Each patrol has a patrol leader and an assistant patrol leader.

The name of the troop is "Trysting Tree Troop" with the "Oak" as the symbol. Miss Hodge, the Girl Scout Leader of York County, gave an interesting talk on how scouting was started and how to organize a Girl Scout Troop.

The officers elected were: Captain, Miss Slough; Lieutenants, Miss Brinser and Miss Snider; Scribe, Mary Louey; Treasurer, Frances Ketterman.

THE BIOLOGY CLUB

Students who are interested in plant and animal life are members of the Biology club, which is under the capable supervision of Mr. Shively, Biology Instructor.

Each member of the club had planned an individual project to be completed during the year. Some projects the members selected were: slides, mountings of animals, collection of plants and animals, etc.

The collections of plants and animals are to be made for the future classes and clubs of the school, and the town as a whole. All things brought in to the Biology Club will be put on exhibition for the study of them by anyone who wishes to do so. The club is expecting to leave a wide spread collection to show clubs and classes of the future.

The expense of the projects was met by club dues. The club members were kept busy working on their projects as the club met only once a week. Several field trips were taken by the club, the members coming back with many kinds of plant and animal life to add to their collections.

Slides of plants and animals, the pictures of famous men and their lives, and the work in the field of science were shown during club periods. In addition to the slides, material related to plant and animal life was discussed during the club period. Mr. Shively mounted several animals on boards which were made by the vocational department.

The club expects to have a complete collection of plants and animal life by the end of the school year.

The aim of the club was to create and arouse interest in several fields of animal and plant life.

The officers of the Club were: president, Irvin Hofe; treasurer, Charles Wolf; and secretary, Wilford Eichelberger.

THE BRIDGE CLUB

The Bridge Club was organized in 1932 under the direction of Mr. Bawn, and it has been carried on since that time. This year it was under the very capable supervision of Miss Fischer, and Mr. Bawn. The officers of the club were: president, Betty Diehl; secretary-treasurer, Henrietta Blettner.

When the club was organized last fall, twenty students expressed their anxiety to attain the art of bridge playing. During the first few meetings of the club, the time was spent in learning the value of the cards, the number of honor tricks required for bidding, and various rules of the game. Tournaments also added to the interest of the club members. Marjorie Rhone, winner of the first tournament, received a double deck of cards.

Club dues for the year were fifty cents. Members of the club sold candy to raise money, with which to buy cards, score pads, table covers explaining the game, and prizes to be awarded at different intervals during the year.

In previous years bridge clubs learned to play bridge by memorizing and applying many complicated rules, which were mimeographed on sheets for them. This method was not only difficult, but also disinteresting to them. This year card table covers have been purchased with the dues of the clubs. These covers have all of the rules and regulations of bridge playing printed on them in a condensed form. They show the minimum number of honor tricks that are necessary to bid, and many other things which have to be known in order to become an excellent bridge player. These covers have proved very useful to our "professional bridge players to be."

JUNIOR SPORTSMAN'S CLUB

The Junior Sportsman's Club, composed of Sophomores, was formed to take the place of an Athletic Club, and to serve the immediate purpose of increasing interest in sports. The interests of the club widened to include instruction and practice in all sports.

During the fall season the club enjoyed outdoor activities in the form of baseball, mushball, and other sports.

The winter season found the group in the gymnasium every other week playing volleyball and basketball. A hike was conducted to the Pigeon Hills. Bird shelters were placed and food distributed for the birds and animals.

In the spring, a hike was conducted as a club project. Games of various sorts were played and prizes were given to the winning groups. A camp meal climaxed the affair. It was also about this time that a mushball tournament and a rifle tournament was held with the Senior Sportsman's club. A loving cup was presented to the club winning the mushball tournament.

Efforts were made to bring regard for good sportsmanship and fair play foremost in the minds of the club members. This end was accomplished very successfully through co-operation in games and discussions.

As is usual in a club of this kind, the objectives were to bring the boys closer together in fellowship and companionship.

The officers for the year were: Joseph Lawrence, president; Alvin Meckley, vice-president; Henry Rutters, secretary-treasurer.

MODERN ALCHEMIST CLUB

The Modern Alchemist Club, under the supervision of Mr. Reehling has entered its second year with the standards set up by last year's club. Its purpose is to give students who are taking chemistry a chance to delve deeper into the mysteries of that subject.

The officers who served during this year were: president, Norman Witmer; vice-president, Robert Erb; and secretary-treasurer, Richard Garrett.

The "Science Leaflet," a publication which deals with all branches of science is placed at the disposal of all students by the club. This publication is secured with funds contributed in the form of dues.

The most outstanding project of the year has been the construction of a Periodic Table of Elements. All the elements were definitely arranged, permanently sealed in bottles, labeled, and mounted on a large composition board. This chart will be of great use to the classes of the future in their study of chemistry.

The club periods were usually spent having a "round table" discussion on an important and interesting subject. Definite periods were also provided to perform experiments, which were either selected at will by the students, or prepared by Mr. Reehling.

At the beginning of the second semester the club began working in the field of qualitative analysis. Each member was given an unknown substance and after going through numerous stages of testing finally reached his conclusion as to its contents. These experiments proved novel and worthwhile.

For students, whose one enjoyment was to mix up concoctions and derive worthwhile results from them, this club proved to be a big success.

The members of the club place the further work of the club in the hands of the on coming students and hope that they will continue in the path that has already been paved for them.

THE DEBATING CLUB

As a result of interscholastic debating having been introduced into the Eichelberger High School a few years ago, a debating club was introduced this year. The purpose of this club is to instruct pupils interested in debating and to give the members a better understanding of the methods and procedure and to develop the technique of argumentation.

The club discussed openly the subject for debate which was: Resolved, that the several states should enact legislation providing for a system of complete medical service available to all citizens at public expense.

As the semester came to an end, the club found itself in two groups, a public speaking group, and a debate team group.

The debating team claims two members of the club, Sherwood Hartman and Caroline Fitz. The affirmative side was upheld by Sherwood Hartman, Stafford Weeks, and Mary Pfaff, alternate. The negative was defended by Caroline Fitz, Leonelle Schue, Captain, and Theron Myers, alternate.

As in the past a schedule of four debates was held, each team engaging in two contests.

On Friday, March 13, the Hanover abrmative team went to Waynesboro, while the Gettysburg affirmative came to Hanover. These contests were held during school assemblies. The following Friday, the negative team journeyed to Waynesboro, and Waynesboro affirmative came to Hanover.

The officers of the Debating Club were: president, August Descheemaeker; vice-president, Edward McLorie; secretary, Caroline Fitz; and treasurer, Barkley Beidleman.

THE DANCING CLUB

The Dancing Club was organized to teach the students of the Sophomore Class to dance. When the first meeting of the club was held in October, about twenty couples were present. Its aim was not to learn all of the fancy steps of ballroom dancing but just to teach the fundamental basis of dancing which is useful for our social life. The music is furnished by an electric victrola, through the compliments of E. J. J. Gobrecht. It is for the use of the club only. In order that the club might show its appreciation of this an average of one record is bought weekly from Mr. Gobrecht.

The following officers were elected to serve during the year: president, Roy Attlesberger; vice-president, Gladys Yingling; secretary, Adele Baugh; and treasurer, Ralph Bish. The advisers are Miss Hamm and Miss Stonesifer. The meetings are held weekly.

During these meetings we have become better accustomed to dancing together and following each other. We have also learned what is meant by a "Paul Jones" and how it is conducted. A few of the dances we had were cake waltz, tag, spot, and leap year dances. We have also had several parties and very fine entertainments.

An entertainment which is outstanding in the minds of the members was one which the officers planned. The room was tastefully decorated in Green and Gold, in keeping with the club colors. The committees were as follows: Decorations, Ruth Appler, chairman; Quentin Alwood, Myrtle Hemler, and Robert Rhone. Entertainment and refreshments, Roy Attlesberger, Gladys Yingling, Adele Baugh, and Ralph Bish. We were entertained by a floor show which included several tap dances by Christine Yingling. During the course of the party refreshments were enjoyed by the group.

This club has been a benefit to all of us, and we sincerely hope and believe that with co-operation of the coming Sophomore classes, they may share the benefits.

THE ETIQUETTE CLUB

The Etiquette Club has had a year of varied activities carried out under the supervision of Miss Menges, club adviser.

This club proved to be of interest to the girls in the school, for twenty-seven girls joined the club when it was organized on September 26, 1935.

As all girls are interested in cosmetics and clothes, these subjects formed topics of interesting discussion. Many valuable lessons were given to the girls and many new things were learned. Through these discussions the girls learned the proper type, the appliance of, and the time for cosmetics. In the study of dress, the girls learned what type of dress is worn to every occasion.

During November, teas were the topic under discussion. The members of the club entertained their mothers at a tea given in Room 10 which was attractively decorated with roses which were later given to the mothers. Henrietta Kerchner was hostess. An interesting and varied program was presented. A pleasant time was spent in conversation and suitable readings were given during the tea. The girls later toured the building with their mothers.

Discussion on lunches and dinners was the subject of great importance because it was preparatory to a dinner given in the spring which proved to be a very successful event.

The officers who served during the first semester were: president, Henrietta Kerchner; vice-president, Sidney Fuhrman; secretary, Betty Neuman; and treasurer, Mildred Cromer. Those serving during the second semester were: president, Peryl Flickinger; vice-president, Ruth Wallet; secretary, Doris Seibert; treasurer, Mildred Cromer.

THE HI-Y CLUB

The Hi-Y club is one of he oldest organizations on the "hill." The club, formed on the principles of scholarship, leadership, and sportsmanship, is composed of the three classes of high school. The aim of the club is to create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community, high standards of Christian character. The club maintains its membership on the platform of clean speech, clean sports, clean scholarship, clean living, and to reach higher moral standards.

Since the advantages of a Y. M. C. A. were not available the club was forced to meet its own financial obligations. This it accomplished very commendably by means of club dues, and by publishing the annual desk blotter advertising the various business places about town.

During the Christmas season the club gathered, repaired, and distributed a very large collection of toys to those whom Santa Claus had unfortunately missed.

During the course of the year, the Hi-Y club had its social affairs. Several parties were held at which the club members and their friends were entertained.

On March 13, the club presented a program in assembly which was favorably accepted by the student body.

Bible studies, a feature of each club meeting, were made effective through church attendance. During the course of the year prominent men addressed the club on different standpoints of life.

The club ended its year's activities by giving a farewell dance for the senior members.

In connection with the members of the Hi-Y club, the class of '36 hopes that the club will continue to improve with the years, helping future generations to enter new fields and aid their fellow men.

The officers of the club are as follows: president—Clair Hoffacker; vice-president —Barkley Beidleman; secretary — Clair Kaltreider; treasurer — Norman Witmer; Faculty Advisers—Mr. Reehling and Mr. Diehl.

THE CAMERA CLUB

The Camera Club, under the supervision of Mr. Baugher, aimed to give each member of the club a foundation that would insure a reasonable degree of success in the making of pictures.

The club, consisting of twenty-four members, met every Thursday, during the fourth period in the morning. At the beginning of the term the members were first instructed in the fundamentals of photography by the use of the pin hole cameras, which were made by members of the club. Good pictures had been taken with the cameras which cost only twenty-five cents.

The printing of pictures was studied. The members of the club then learned how to mix the developer for printing which must be a certain temperature. The fixing bath was explained by Mr. Baugher and various steps in printing were discussed. When a general knowledge of this phase was acquired the members of the club were divided into groups who in turn made use of the dark room for printings. Club members learned how to print on sensitized paper as well as on sensitized glass or lantern slides. A few slides were made last year and the club added several dozen to that list this year.

Students not engaged in printing during the club period made lantern slides. By the use of various colored carbon paper and cellophane we were able to make type written slides.

Since there were a number of items of expense in club work, we were fortunate to have the school buy for us six dozen slides and glass covers. When the school purchases a motion picture machine, the club hopes to be able to produce motion picture films of local interest.

The officers for the first semester were as follows: president—Maurice Freck; vice-president—Robert Halter; secretary—Mary Jane Hamm; treasurer—Mary Helen Kerchner; typist—Mildred Szwoyer. The officers for the second semester were: president—Lester Emmert; vice-president—Robert Meckley; secretary-treasurer—Mildred Szwoyer

SENIOR SPORTSMAN'S CLUB

The Sportsman's Club was organized shortly after school opened last fall, and is considered by the members as a worth-while club. George Kennedy, adviser, is very much interested in leading discussions concerning sportsmanship.

The members of the club discussed football, basketball, volleyball, soccer, and minor winter sports. Much time was spent in discussing football. Reports were given by the members on all types of football games. There are also much time spent discussing soccer, a new intra-scholastic sport. Due to the fact that there were quite a few soccer players in the club interesting talks were given on how to play the game.

During the year the club spent half of the club periods in the gymnasium where many sports were played, and where sportsmanship was put into practice. Some of the games played in the "gym" during club periods were: volleyball, basketball, indoor baseball, and all kinds of relays. Several contests were held during the year between Mr. Crowe's club and Mr. Kennedy's club. Mr. Kennedy's club was generally victorious.

During the spring much interest was aroused as to which club the silver loving cup should go: to Mr. Crowe's club or to Mr. Kennedy's club. Each club was divided into several teams to play mushball on the campus. After the teams were organized properly, elimination games began. The winning team received a silver loving cup which had engraved on it the name of the team and why it was given to that team. The club spent the periods outside when the weather permitted and played many sports which are popular during spring.

During hunting season many periods were spent in discussing hunting and precautions that should be taken while hunting game. During the winter the club took much interest in feeding the wild game. Many wild animals starved to death before any aid could be given. Our club secured feed from the county game warden and spent many Saturday's out in the woods feeding small wild game. One of our club projects was to build feeding stations for the birds and make regular visits and fill the stations with feed.

The officers of the sportsman's club were as follows: president, Paul Grove; vice-president, Robert Martin; secretary, J. Allen Schwartz; treasurer, Austin Ruth. The officers for the second semester were as follows: president, Paul Grove; vice-president, Robert Gouker; secretary, Marvin Reck; treasurer, Austin Ruth.

THE GIRL RESERVES

The Girl Reserve Club of Eichelberger Senior High School is one of the oldest clubs in existence. There are Girl Reserve Clubs all over the world.

The symbol of the Girl Reserves is a triangle enclosed in a circle. The three sides of the triangle stand for Body, Mind, and Spirit. The circle which embraces the triangle represents the world. "To Face Life Squarely" is the slogan of the club; "To Find and Give the Best" is the purpose.

Growing out of the interests of the girls, a program of various activities was carried out throughout the year. During March and Aril, the girls studied and discussed the slogan, purpose, code, and aims of the Girl Reserves. They also attended several Pre-Lenten services during Lent.

Social activities played a leading part in the club during the year. Several ten cent suppers were held, which the girls made themselves. During the winter the club acted as hostess to the Hi-Y Club at supper-dances.

One of the first social functions last fall was a Hallowe'en Dance. In December, the club, together with the Junior High and Pollyanna Clubs, held a Doll Show.

A Recognition Service was held February 16. This service is held annually to formally initiate girls into the club. It is carried out in the form of a candle-light service.

A Mid-winter Conference was held in York, February 28 to March 1. The Hanover Club was represented by five girls and two advisers. An indoor circus was held in March with the Junior High Girl Reserve Club.

The Girl Reserves reached the climax of the year by holding a formal spring dance, and then going to camp for three weeks.

Officers who served for the year were: president, Henrietta Blettner; vice-president, Marjorie Rhone; secretary, Vesta Walter; and treasurer, Evelyn Asper. These officers were installed at a meeting held in November.

Needlework Club

The Needlework Club, formerly called the Gift Club, has been reorganized this year under the supervision of Miss Flickinger. Although it is retained under the name Needlework, most of the girls have been busy with knitting needles. Five sweaters, two suits, and two pocketbooks have been completed.

Those busy with embroidery thread have completed various small articles such as center pieces, bureau scarfs, and boudoir pillows.

The club collected dues each month; and a successful party was held in the spring of the year.

Those holding office during the year were: president, Harriet Rodgers; vice-president, Carolyn Dellinger; secretary, Lida Hufnagle; and treasurer, Ann Thomas.

Library Club

The Library Club under the leadership of Miss Edith Crawford, librarian, has had an active and successful year. The aim of the club was to interest the students in the use of the reference books with which the library is stocked. Meetings of the group were held each Thursday morning during the club period. Programs of varied types were given, including instruction in the work which must be done to keep the reading material in order.

One feature of the work of the club this year has been the preparation of book reviews, which were given by the members at stated intervals. One object, that is least understood by the student body is the giving of aid to any one who finds it difficult to locate the different books and magazines that are on the shelves. Each member of the club is anxious that this service shall be rendered as extensively as possible.

Officers elected for the first term are: president, Clara Lewis; vice-president, Florence Lucabaugh; sec.-treas., Ruth Gorman.

THE ART CLUB

The Art Club, under the supervision of Mr. Moyer, accomplished many worth while projects during the club year. It was the aim of each member to complete several projects which would prove satisfactory and beneficial to themselves and to their instructor. This plan was carried out to the fullest extent which made the club of 1936 the most successful in its history. Attractive club scrap books, consisting of these projects, were made.

Sketching gained the highest favor among the students. Sketches were made in charcoal, ink, and pencil, which, in the later part of the year, were exhibited as a club project. The most attractive and interesting sketches were those made from original ideas which accumulated during the club period.

Painting also gained high favor, ranking next to sketching. Real artistic ability was given a chance to show itself as the work progressed.

Making book covers was another project carried out by the club. Each student selected a book that he thought would make an attractive cover or was interesting to him and painted a cover for it.

Near the end of the school year it was suggested that the club paint greeting cards. The students were given the privilege to make any type of card they wished.

Students who served as officers during the club year were: president, Arthur Myers; vice-president, Sparky Weisensale; secretary, Mary Pfaff; and treasurer Cletus Reck.

The Art Club hopes that future Art Clubs will continue working, as they have, toward some high goal of fine arts.

PRESIDENTS' COUNCIL

The first Presidents' Council of the Eichelberger Senior High School was organized this year for the purpose of training the presidents of their respective home rooms for leadership and co-operation between the members. The council was under the capable direction of Mr. Reehling.

A committee of teachers outlined the programs for the semesters and it was the duty of the presidents to see that the programs were successfully carried out from week to week.

The programs outlined for the semesters were composed of: "Topics on the Highlights of History;" in the topics were included: Columbus Day; Pennsylvania Day; Election Day; The Battle of Hanover and many others. The origin of our holidays, such as: Thanksgiving Day, Hallowe'en, and Christmas Day were given.

To the outlined programs we added: The Science of Art and Music. Movie reviews were given for the coming week and the comments and the ratings on the pictures were given. Reviews on sports were given of the League games and of our own games. There was a joke writer for each home room who would write jokes about members and present them in the home room period. Humorous readings were also given by members. One week was devoted to the discussion of hobbies. Each member in the home room stated his hobby and told why he choose it and what his attractions was for it.

Throughout the course of the year the council was frequently addressed by Mr. Erdly and Mr. Baldwin. Many new ideas were initiated and put into effect.

The officers for the first semester were: president, Betty Diehl; vice-president, Robert Klunk; secretary and treasurer, Marjorie Rhone.

It is hoped that the new organization will be carried on in the future and will become a permanent feature of our school.

Music and Dramatics

MUSIC . . . . .

Mr. Ernest R. Boucher

Miss Vesta Steininger

THE GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

The Girls' Glee Club, under the direction of Miss Vesta Steininger, has aimed to create a keener interest in music throughout the school; to teach its 68 members how to read music, to improve their voices, and to appreciate music.

The school heartily welcomes Miss Steininger back from her leave of one year's absence which she spent at West Chester State Teachers' College to obtain an additional degree in music supervision.

The Glee Club has progressed greatly under Miss Steininger's efforts and it is the hope of the present club that this organization will continue to progress as in the past. A mixed chorus was formed from the Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs and presented a program at the Southern District of the P. S. E. A. Convention held in Hanover, December 6. Many appreciative comments were received by the chorus.

The club met regularly every Thursday during club period, but many special meetings were necessary during the first semester for the purpose of presenting a Christmas Cantata "The Child Jesus." The club also took an active part in the Thanksgiving, Easter and Music Week assembly programs.

THE BAND

The Hanover High School Band, under the direction of Ernest R. Boucher, has been given professional training in music. Mr. Boucher demanded a high degree of skill in his performers. He aimed to teach the members the qualities necessary to make up a good music organization. Because of the wide interest and co-operation, a high standard of attainment was realized.

The band was ready to take its part in the fall athletic football games and has continued throughout the school year. On December 5, the organization played for the P. S. E. A. Teachers' Convention, and on December 6, it played a concert in the high school auditorium, for which it received much favorable comment. The band also gave several very fine assembly programs, as well as taking an active part in Music Week.

With every member co-operating the band is planning to go into the State Forensic League Competition.

On March 20, the band was given the opportunity to play under the direction of Frank Simon, director of the Armco Band.

The members of the band received letters as a reward for their service throughout the year. They were awarded according to a merit system.

The officers of the band were: Jack Hopkins, president; Draden Moore, vice-president; John Trimmer, secretary-treasurer; Kathryn Hostetter, business manager, and Max Pfaff, reporter.

THE ORCHESTRA

With Ernest R. Boucher as director, the Hanover High School Orchestra has made outstanding progress during the past year. This is Mr. Boucher's initial year as instrumental music instructor, but the members of the orchestra have advanced remarkably in playing their respective instruments and in attaining a more complete knowledge of the musical act. Mr. Boucher is the director of state-championship bands and orchestras and hopes to bring our orchestra up to this standard.

This organization furnished music for assembly programs, dramatic productions, and other school functions. The orchestra gave a series of concerts which were appreciated and praised highly by the music lovers of Hanover. Compositions from Beethoven, Schubert, Wagner, and other famous composers have been studied throughout the school year. Through the co-operation of the director, officers, and students the members of the orchestra have been privileged to reach their goal—the ability to understand and appreciate the highest forms of music. In the coming years we hope that this organization will be able to grow both in size and in ability to play master pieces in an artistic way.

The orchestra members received letters as a reward for their service in the orchestra during the year.

The officers of the orchestra were: Clair Kaltreider, president; Kathryn Hostetter, vice-president; Rosa Mae Hamm, secretary-treasurer; and Henrietta Herr, reporter.

THE BOYS' GLEE CLUB

The Boys' Glee Club met in the fall and organized its musical program for the first time in several years. It was necessary to organize a separate club for the boys because of the great number of students who were interested. This club proved very successful under the capable direction of Mr. Boucher.

Several members of the club united with the girls' chorus in presenting numerous programs. The club met regularly every Thursday during the scheduled club period. This period was devoted to singing classic songs as well as many familiar songs.

The two glee clubs under the direction of Miss Steininger and Mr. Boucher presented "The Christmas Cantata" and the annual operetta, both proved outstanding activities of the year. Many groups representative of the two clubs were asked to sing at various church services. The club participated in a number of assembly programs. There are twenty-eight members in the club.

It has been the aim of the club to establish a real, "honest-to-goodness" Boys' Glee Club capable of acquitting itself creditably in Forensic League competition. They also aimed to have a club that would compare favorably with college glee clubs.

The officers elected for the school year 1935-1936 were: John Trimmer, president; Max Pfaff, vice-president; Ross Bortner, secretary-treasurer; and Grace Naill, reporter.

"THE GOVERNOR'S DAUGHTER"

The Annual Operetta, "The Governor's Daughter" under the direction of Miss Vesta Steininger and Mr. Ernest Boucher, accompanied by Miss Mary Allison was presented Friday evening, March 27, 1936 in the Eichelberger Auditorium.

The story of "The Governor's Daughter" begins on the night of the election of Mr. Goodspeed as governor of Calabama. Denver Nutter played the part of Mr. Goodspeed; and Marjorie Gobrecht that of Mrs. Goodspeed, an ambitious woman eager to take affairs into her own hands. She directs the publicity and tries to dictate the policies of the new governor. She wishes to marry her daughter Jane (Doris Finley) to Senator Snow (Ross Bortner). The senator is a wealthy old man with political influence. In order to accomplish her ends, Mrs. Goodspeed plays upon the unselfish good nature of John Sumner (Daniel S. Wentz, 2nd), a struggling young author, Jane's fiance, and persuades him not to stand in Jane's way.

John has promised Mrs. Goodspeed to break his engagement to Jane, without disclosing the plan which Mrs. Goodspeed has forced upon him. He tells the governor that he loves Jane but that he is too deeply in debt to marry.

The governor offers to liquidate the fictitious debt. John, driven to extremity, feigns insanity, and so convincing is his role that he commands the situation and with sparkling comedy puts Mrs. Goodspeed and Senator Snow to a disadvantage.

Mr. Octave (George Waltersdorff) of the Leverlung Publishing Company arrives with a contract for the publication of John's book. The contract price is boosted to $50,000. Aunt Mary (Carolyn Coble) arrives, and the assumed insanity is disclosed. Mrs. Goodspeed is impressed with John. Jane and John renew their troth, and the Senator is routed.

THE DRAMATIC CLUB

On September 26th, the Dramatic Club conducted its first meeting and officers for the first semester were elected: president, Mary Hoffman; vice-president, Jean Stallsmith; secretary, Nadine Goodfellow; and treasurer, Eunice Arentz. The main purpose of the club was to give each student interested, a chance to portray dramatic ability. This has been accomplished under the supervision of Miss Marion Brougher, Dramatic instructor of the school.

During the first semester, the club was divided into five forums for the purpose of presenting one-act plays. The leaders of these forums were: Elinore Plank, Jean Stallsmith, Jack Boschen, and Edward Stick. Each group presented a play before the club which was selected, directed, and produced without any faculty aid. Each week the club met in the auditorium with faculty judges for the purpose of viewing and selecting the best production. The play chosen as the winner was presented to the student body. In this manner the acting ability of the students was greatly improved.

Walking exercises were practiced to acquaint the members with the many different positions used on the stage. Pantomine and interesting make-up demonstrations also proved to be of outstanding value.

During the second semester the club was under the direction of Miss Virginia Faber who filled the vacancy left by the resignation of Miss Brougher. The officers of the club for this semester were: president, Jeanne Trone; vice-president, Nadine Garrett; secretary, Mary Helen Stauffer; and treasurer, Eunice Arentz.

The 1935-36 Dramatic Club desires that the members in the following years continue this profitable work and make it more successful than it has ever been before.

"THE PATSY"

THE 1936 PRODUCTION OF THE SENIOR CLASS

The class of 1936, on May 15, presented, "The Patsy," a three act comedy, by Barry Conners.

Mary Hoffacker, who played the leading role in "Growing Pains," the "All-Star Play" of 1934-'35, again starred as a lead, as she played the part of the "Patsy." She was ably supported by Ralph Hoffacker, as Tony Anderson, who taught her the art of winning any man she might love, and who unconsciously became a subject, for her first trial of his theory.

Elinore Plank portrayed well, the character of Patsy's sophisticated sister, Grace. Her second fiancee, Billy Caldwell was none other than Harold Little, who had appeared in several dramatic productions during the past two years.

Eunice Arentz, who took the part of the mother of Grace and "Patsy," and always was in a state of self-pity and discontent, and Earl Culp, as her carefree, self-contented husband, proved that they were well suited for their roles.

Other characters in the play were Evelyn Aspers who played the part of Sadie, the girl who almost ruined Grace and Bill's engagement, by completing the triangle, at a party engagement; Curvin Barnhart who depicted the character of Mr. Francis O'Flaherty, an old friend of the family and "Patsy's" chief source of information when she won the loving cup, donated to the person selecting the names of the three most famous men of all time; and Ray Swartz who as the taxi-man enjoys the "biteing" remarks which Grace offers him.

The entire cast presented a finished production under the direction of the dramatic coaches, and faculty and student committees.

"THE BOOMERANG"

THE 1936 PRODUCTION OF THE JUNIOR CLASS

The curtain opens on a white stage. We see the perfect doctor's office, even to the handsome young physician played by Edward Bender. There is only one thing lacking—he has had no patient. The doorbell rings and much to the doctor's disappointment or rather delight, Denver Nutter, the French man-servant, admits a very attractive Pauline Geiman. She is seeking the position, as nurse in his office. Naturally he engages her. The same bell rings; a patient Raymond Cleveland, and his tackful mother, Jeanne Trone, enter. Poor Raymond has lost his appetite over a sweet young thing, known to us as Nadine Garrett. The ideal doctor, who, understands this game called "Love," gives his patient the winning plays only to find he himself has contracted the disease. Since all good things take time, the doctor and the gay young nurse finally fall in love with each other.

Wilford Eichelberger is a very charming villian who continually snaches either Nadine or the nurse. Jean Babylon as the doctor's young sister brightens the stage. Kenneth Eisenberger surprised everyone by being a model butler.

"The Boomerang," directed by Miss Menges and Miss Brougher, was recognized by a packed and enthusiastic house to be everything the title hinted.

Babylon, Eichelberger, Geiman, Nutter, Garrett, Cleveland, Trone, Bender, Coble, Wolford.

All-Star Play—"JANICE MEREDITH"

On January 17, an All-Star Cast presented the four act, historical play, "Janice Meredith" by Edward E. Rose and Paul Leicester Ford. The play, based on the novel of the same name, was a story of the American Revolution.

Each act had a different setting. The scenes for the four acts were: Exterior of Greenwood, the Meredith home; Living room at Greenwood, the Meredith home in New Jersey; parlor in Drinkwater's house at Trenton, New Jersey; and the interior at Yorktown.

The plot of the play was centered around the love story of Janice Meredith. Janice, daughter of a British sympathizer, found that her sweetheart, Charles, who was her father's bondsman, had enlisted with the continentals. She sympathized with his cause and helped him to escape from the British. The British, considering her a rebel spy, made her a prisoner, but all ended happily when Cornwallis surrendered to Washington and Janice surrendered to Charles. The play was filled with exciting incidents.

The play was very beautifully costumed under the direction of Miss Weikert and Miss Stonesifer, who made every effort to make all costumes true to the period.

The Cast, under the direction of Miss Mary Louise Menges and Miss Marion Fisher, portrayed their roles in an exceptionally fine manner. The members of the Cast were: Squire Meredith, Barkley Beidleman; Squire Hennion, Curvin Barnhart; Mrs. Meredith, Betty Hopkins; Sukey, Annabelle Mummert; Clowes, Wilber Stremmel; Mobray, Roy Attlesberger; Philemon Hennion, Harold Little; Joe Bagley, Clyde Rohrbaugh; Tabitha Drinkwater, Margaret Hoffman; Charles, Glenn Markle; Janice Meredith, Mary Hoffman; Messenger, Sherwood Hartman; Sergeant in British Army, Glenn Bange; Buntling, Reginald Carr; Willis, Austin Ruth; two British soldiers, Lloyd Shue and Merle Mummert; Rosscomb, Kenneth Eisenberger; Rahl, Earl Culp; Piel, August Descheemaeker; Buger, Earl Rohrbaugh; Brereton (Charles in disguise), Glenn Markle; Heinrichs, Harvey Spies; Aide, James McDonnell; Orderly in the British Army, Edward McLorie; Sentry, Kenneth Helwig.

THE NORNIR

As you look at this year's Nornir, you see the permanent record of the efforts and activities of the class of '36 from the time of our entrance into high school until graduation. In no better way could we climax our eventful high school career than by producing one of the best Nornirs Eichelberger High School has ever put out.

We, the senior class, have been responsible for the compiling, publication, and distribution of this year book. If it recalls to your mind pleasant memories of your high school days and gives you lasting enjoyment during the years to come, our efforts have not been in vain.

The determination on the part of the Nornir staff and the adviser, Mr. Kennedy, to make the Nornir of 1936 an outstanding improvement over the Nornirs of preceding years, has led us to make several changes in the arrangement. In order to give each member of the faculty a more prominent place in our annual, each instructor has an individual picture and a write-up. The members of the senior class, have also been given more attention. Instead of having ten pictures on one page, we have placed only ight; thus increasing the size of each picture and allowing more space for personal descriptions.

The forethought and labor necessary in producing a Nornir such as this cannot be over-looked. We sincerely hope that it will fulfill our greatest expectations by proving to be one of your most valued possessions.

THE ORANGE AND BLACK

The school paper, "The Orange and Black," has completed its twenty-second year as the official publication of the Hanover High School. This year the staff included twelve seniors who served as editors of the various departments, and thirty-eight junior and sophomores who aided to a large extent in the success of the publication.

The subscription rate was reduced to the lowest figure since the paper has been printed in its present form. Instead of reducing the frequency of publication, it was increased, and at the same time the amount of advertising was kept down to the minimum standard of previous years. This was accomplished in spite of the fact that the number of subscriptions was less than it had been in former years.

The paper contained an abundance of news articles, with special emphasis on coming events. Through the selection of a staff of home-room reporters, the news covered more phases of school activities than was heretofore possible. The entire fourth page of the paper was devoted to a well-organized sport department. Other important features of the publication included: editorials, frankly discussing school activities; humorous feature articles; poems and short stories written by students; and a comment column in which students could voice their opinions on various activities of the school.

The co-operation of the members of the staff was extraordinary. There was always a fine response to the call for staff members.

The editorial advisers were Paul C. Gast and Miss M. Louella Snider. Arthur R. Bawn served as adviser for the business staff. Richard A. Garrett was Editor-in-Chief, and Clair Hoffacker was Business Manager.

THE HANDBOOK

The present Senior class had the privilege and honor to publish the first Handbook. The Handbook is published by the Junior Honor Students of the high school. The purpose of this book is to acquaint the new pupils with our building, customs, rules, faculty, and so forth. It is to help the faculty and parents as well as the students.

The student body of the high school is always a changing quantity. The rules, customs, and aims of the school have been passed along from one class to another in a more or less unsatisfactory procedure. The Handbook was originated to overcome this difficulty.

The staff for the first Handbook was: faculty, Mr. Baldwin, Miss Fischer, and Mr Metzler; students, Richard Garrett, Leonelle Schue, Beatrice Myers, Elenore Plank, Ross Bortner, Dorothy Fink, Allen Schwartz, and Jean Stallsmith.

A few of the things that one may find in the Handbook are: The School Board, the Faculty, the daily schedule, the school calendar, a diagram of the building, the arrangement of courses, clubs and their advisers, information about school publications, athletics, P. I. A. A. eligibility rules, some of the best known school songs and cheers, parliamentary procedure, and many other helpful articles.

This Handbook has been proven a very helpful factor in adjusting Sophomores and new students to our building. The cost of maintaining such a book is very small and we of the staff hope that the publication of the Handbook may continue.

THE ATHLETIC COUNCIL

The Class of '36 takes this opportunity to express its appreciation to the Athletic Council for its efforts in making the 1935-1936 athletic program one of the most successful in the history of Hanover High School.

To the Council goes the credit for having inaugurated night football in Hanover. The idea of night football is new, and the Athletic Council has shown its ability to keep pace with modern developments by equipping the Fairgrounds gridiron with a first-class lighting-system.

Everyone knows there is an Athletic Council, but few people know many facts about the Council. For the benefit of those who are in the dark may we state a few facts.

The Athletic Council is composed of two members of the Board of Education; the Superintendent of schools; and these representatives from the high school: a principal, head coach, faculty manager, and a student representative.

The council organizes early in September of each school year, and elects a chairman, vice-chairman, and secretary.

Meetings are held each month.

The two chief aims of the Athletic Program are: The welfare of each individual boy and girl participating; and that athletics be a part of the physical education program and shall continue to enrich those activities.

The Athletic Council has done everything in its power to make a paying proposition of athletics at Hanover High. By a paying proposition I do not mean only the financial angle. There are two sides to every question. This is at least true in the athletic question. Aside from the financial angle there is the fact that the youth of the community is prepared for the successful continuance of the life which lies ahead.

FOOTBALL

A blaze of light, a blaze of color, and the Hanover High School Nighthawks make their appearance.

This year the Nighthawks were under the tutelage of Ray W. Gray, our new coach. Mr. Gray came to us from Portage, Pennsylvania; where he coached very successful football teams.

The Fair Grounds gridiron was improved by the erection of a lighting system. This system provided 60,000 watts of electric light, under which all of the home games were played. The drawing power of night football was proved by the gate receipts, which made considerable gains over previous years.

The first game of the 1935 season was played under the lights with Biglerville, September 20.

Although the season, on the whole, was not what might be termed outstanding, we are highly pleased with the Hawks. The team was "in there" every minute of every game, fighting. The regular season ended with three games won, seven lost, and one tied. A post season game with McSherrystown ended in an 18–18 tie.

This year the varsity eleven had an entirely new line, on which some of our sophomores played very commendably. The backfield was composed chiefly of veterans, and included four lettermen.

The regular fall practice was preceded this year by a summer training camp along the Conewago. This sort of training camp is the first ever held in the history of Hanover High. The faculty members and coaches in charge of the camp included: Mr. Baldwin, Mr. Gray, and Mr. Kennedy.

SUMMARY
1935 FOOTBALL SEASON

In summarizing the season's football let us start at the very beginning. The beginning of the season was August 26, 1935. At that date the first training and practice of the 1935 season was started at Hanover High's first summer training camp.

Under the direction of Mr. Baldwin, and the coaching of Mr. Gray and Mr. Kennedy, twenty-six boys started their fall football training.

One day after school convened for the 1935-36 term, a call was issued by Coach Gray for football candidates. About 45 boys answered the call.

Practice was started at the Fair Grounds gridiron but through an act of courtesy our team was given the use of the field at the corner of Charles Street and Potomac Avenue for practice.

While the team was progressing on the Bair practice field, the Fair Grounds gridiron was being improved by the erection of ten oversize poles each of which holds four 1500 watt lamps. This made a grand total of 60,000 watts of electric light. This lighting system was set up for more than one reason. First of all, it gave more people the chance to see the Hanover High School Nighthawks in action. Second, the gate receipts would quite naturally be raised by an increased attendance. Extra bleachers were erected, which raised the seating capacity to 3,500.

September 20 was the date set for the first tilt of the season. With a new coach, new equipment, a practically new field, and with high spirits, the Hanover High Nighthawks sent Biglerville down to the decisive score of 34–6. Hanover scored in each of the four periods with two touchdowns by Craumer, and one each by Erb, Rutters, and Kinneman. It was Hanover's game from the start.

In the first Conference contest of the season, Shippensburg was the adversary. On the night of Sectember 27, the Nighthawks took their revenge for last year's defeat, with interest.

The score: 30–0.

The star of the game: John Trimmer.

Johnny seemed to have wings on his feet. Hanover was on her own 28-yard line when Johnny cut loose. Slashing through right guard he ran 75 yards for a touchdown. Bud Kinneman clicked off 35 yards for a six-pointer earlier in the game. The touchdown making seemed to be a Trimmer-Kinneman affair. "Johnny" took three across the border, while "Bud" registered twice.

During the eight days separating the Shippensburg game and our next contest, which was with Hagerstown, the jinx struck and took "Johnny" Trimmer and "Bud" Kinneman from the lineup. Both were forced out with injuries.

With the odds in Hanover's favor the Hawks met Hagerstown on a Saturday afternoon and suffered an unexpected defeat to the tune of 33–7. The game was far from interesting. Both teams played as though in a daze. Hanover's lone touchdown was made in the second period when Bob Lippy lateralled to Ken Craumer on the 13-yard line and Ken took the pigskin across for the score.

In the fourth tilt of the season, and the third played under the lights, the Nighthawks battled, and I mean battled, a strong Columbia High football aggregation. Might I add that the weatherman wasn't nice that night. Rain through practically the entire game made passing difficult and receiving even more difficult. We weren't displeased with the Hawks despite the 18–0 defeat administered by the Columbia lads. This game was played October 11.

On Saturday afternoon, October 19, the Hawks played Mechanicsburg, another Conference foe, at Mechanicsburg. Again the breaks broke for the other side and Mechanicsburg succeeded in upsetting the dope before 1200 fans, by eking out a 7–0 victory. A drive by Hanover in the second period was ended on the enemy's 18 yard line, when the whistle blew ending the half.

Six days later Hanover played Carlisle under the lights. This was the third conference game of the season. The only touchdown of the game was made in the last period when Captain Morrison of Carlisle raced around his own left end for nine yards and a score. This was the first play of the fourth quarter. The final score was 6–0.

November—The first day, or rather the first night of November, started the month off right.

Question: "Why?"

Answer: "Hanover trimmed Red Lion, 13–0."

The first half of the game was the scoring half. In the first quarter Paul Grove circled right end from the five yard line for Hanover's first score of the game. Shortly after this, Bud Kinneman took the ball across from the 1-foot mark for the second and last touchdown of the game.

November 11 — Bang! Bang! Cannon? No, just the Waynesboro Tornado. The night of November 11 brought out a crowd of almost 3000 to witness, in my estimation, the best brand of football Hanover displayed during the entire season. Hanover lost 33–12 after a hard and determined fight. The score was tied at 6-all at half time. At the close of the third period the score was 12–6 in favor of Waynesboro. Then the storm broke. Three touchdowns plus two conversions pushed Waynesboro's score to 33. Up until the last quarter, Han-

SOCCER

It was with keen interest and enthusiasm that the boys responded to the call of Coach Shively for candidates for a soccer team. Although this was their first year of interscholastic competition, the team, under the splendid coaching of Mr. Shively, made a commendable record for themselves. Most of the home games were played as preliminaries to the football games.

The "Orange and Black Booters" opened the season by meeting Littlestown on the Littlestown field, with a defeat of 2–1. This defeat did not reduce their enthusiasm, for they were anxious for the return game to be played as a preliminary to the Carlisle-Hanover football tilt. This game proved more successful with a score of 1–0 in favor of Hanover.

Other games played are as follows: Hanover vs. East Berlin as preliminary to the Red Lion football game, with a scoreless tie; and Hanover vs. Fairfield preliminary to the Waynesboro football tilt with another scoreless tie. This last game brought to a close the first soccer season for the Hanover Senior High School enthusiasts.

The players who represented this High School, and who were known as the "Orange and Black Booters" were: Bauserman, Bittinger, Boyer, Descheemaeker, Frech, Garrett, Hamm, Hirt, Hofe, Markle, McDonnell, McLorie, Messinger, Mohr, Panebaker, Reck, Shue, Tawney, and Worley.

Next year a more definite knowledge of the game will be secure in the minds of all those interested, and a still better turn-out will be expected when Mr. Shively again issues his call for candidates for this particular interscholastic sport.

BASKETBALL

Presenting the Eichelberger High School Basketball Team of '36, coached by Ray Gray and assisted by Percy Wilson. The Nighthawks dribbled, passed, and shot their way to a fairly successful basketball season.

The call for candidates was answered whole-heartedly. Mr. Gray had no trouble in picking two fine teams. The boys learned fast and developed into a formidable basketball club.

Although the Hawks lost more games than were won, we are by no means disappointed in them. Of the eight games won, Gettysburg and Columbia, who both boasted a strong team, were among the victims. The other six wins were with Red Lion, Hagerstown, Gettysburg, and two victories over both Shippensburg and Littlestown. A pre-season tilt with McSherrystown ended with Hanover on top 19 to 18.

The team this year was made up chiefly of Seniors. Among these were Kinneman, Lippy, Trimmer, Cleveland, and Grove. Ross Coulson represented the Juniors, and Jack Boschen and Ken Craumer were the Sophomore representatives.

The season was officially opened when Hanover played Littlestown on the Eichelberger court.

Hanover succeeded in copping three conference battles to hold down fifth position in the Conference Standings. During the season two extra-period games were played. Of the two the Hawks won one, by outscoring Littlestown in the extra period. The other was lost to Chambersburg when the Rinesmen knotted the count in the last few minutes of play and outscored Hanover in the extra three minutes to win.

The Hawks played 21 tilts, 10 of which were Conference battles and closed the season at Red Lion on March 10, 1936.

SUMMARY
1936 BASKETBALL SEASON

The Nighthawks opened the 1936 basketball season by meeting McSherrystown in an exhibition game. The tilt was interesting throughout. Although McSherrystown was leading 13 to 11 at half-time, Hanover came back strong in the second half to win, 19 to 18. This game was played in the Eichelberger gymnasium, December 13.

The Hawks, with Ray Gray at the helm, met and defeated Littlestown in the first regularly scheduled contest of the season. Hanover, leading 10 to 2 at half-time, increased that lead to the decisive result of 24 to 10. "Bud" Kinneman scored 14 of Hanover's 24 points. This battle was staged on the Eichelberger court.

The annual Alumni game was played December 27. The grads defeated the Nighthawks 31 to 23. Led by "Ken" Craumer, the Hanover quintet showed marked improvement over the brand of ball played against Littlestown. "Jess" Crabbs and "Vic" Finley were leading score collectors for the Alumni quintet.

The first game played on a foreign floor was with Chambersburg. The Rine-coached aggregation proved too much and accordingly won by the score of 26 to 18. Chambersburg led 14 to 5 at the termination of the first quarter, but Hanover proceeded to cut this lead and make the game an interesting one.

On January 10, the Mechanicsburg basketball five invaded Hanover and left with a 37 to 21 victory to its credit. Led by "Ken" Craumer and "Bob" Lippy, the Hawks made a desperate, but futile stand. Mechanicsburg, eventually Conference champions, proved themselves to be the masters of the situation.

Another "home" game, this time the Red Lion Lions were met and vanquished, 38 to 23. "Ken" Craumer proved his markmanship by netting seven field goals and one foul throw for a grand totala of fifteen points.

The night of January 21, Hanover invaded Waynesboro, only to meet defeat at the hands of the Tornado. The Waynesboro lads succeeded in overcoming the Hawks 43 to 31. Hanover, after playing heads-up ball on even terms with Waynesboro, weakened in the fourth quarter and the result has been mentioned. "Ken" Craumer and "Bud" Kinneman together turned in the sum of 22 points.

Hagerstown, our only Maryland opponent, was met on the Hagerstown floor on January 24. After a close, exciting game—the outcome of which was never certain—Hagerstown succeeded in winning 30 to 28. The score indicates the keen competition shown during the 32 minutes of action. Again we have Kinneman and Craumer as high scorers. "Bud" accounted for 11 points, while "Ken" chalked up 9.

On January 28, a battle was fought in Gettysburg, not on the Battlefield, but in the Gettysburg High School gymnasium. Hanover lost this battle to the Little Bullets 36 to 27. The Hawks led 18 to 15 at half-time and, would undoubtedly have held this lead, had not "Bob" Lippy and "Bud" Kinneman been fouled out during the second half. However, "Bud" had already registered 12 points when he was forced to retire.

Up until January 31 Hanover had lost three Conference games and had won none. The night of January 31 proved to be Hanover's chance to evacuate the Conference cellar. This the Hawks proceeded to do by defeating Shippensburg, 42 to 31. Hanover outscored Shippensburg in three of the four quarters. Kinneman accounted for 12 points, and Ross Coulson accumulated 10.

On February 4, the Hawks invaded Carlisle, only to be set back by the score of 46 to 35. The Hawks, handicapped by the loss of the mainstays of the team, who were fouled out, made a determined stand against the Green and White tossers. The Hawks played the last few minutes of the game with but four men.

The night of February 7 found the Eichelberger gymnasium echoing to the cheers of Hanover and Chambersburg fans. The Chambersburg quintet was outclassed by the Hawks during the first three quarters of the tilt. Chambersburg came back in the fourth quarter to tie the score. The extra period was ceded to Chambersburg who outscored Hanover 6 to 2 in that brief, but thrill-packed three minutes. The final score was 35 to 31, favor of Chambersburg.

On February 11, the Hawks battled the Columbia High School quintet, at Columbia. The final score was 38 to 31, favor of Columbia. Hanover was outplayed in every quarter. "Bud" Kinneman scored 12 points for the Hawks.

The Mechanicsburg High School five met the Eichelberger Nighthawks in what proved to be a one-sided contest—for Mechanicsburg. The tilt, played on the Mechanicsburg floor, ended with Hanover on the short end of a 37 to 19 score. The Hawks battled as always, but were not quite good enough.

The Hawks took revenge for their previous defeat at the hands of Hagerstown on February 15. That night Hanover vanquished the Marylanders, 34 to 25, on the Hanover court. Hanover outscored Hagerstown in the second half, 22 to 14. "Bob" Lippy was high scorer for the Nighthawks with 9 points to his credit.

The "fur flew" on Tuesday, February 18. Hanover and Gettysburg "got together" in what proved to be a success — for the

TRACK

The 1935 track team of Hanover High is worthy of all the credit that has been bestowed upon it.

The spring of '35 found the once desolate Moul Athletic Field seething with excitement. The reason for this is the fact that 1935 is the first year that a track meet was held on the Moul Athletic Field. The track was lined off into four lanes. The pits for broad jumping, high jumping, and pole vaulting were improved. In general, the field was improved 100% in appearance and practicability.

The team, which was coached by George Kennedy, participated in four meets.

The first clash of the season was with Gettysburg. In our annual dual meet with the Little Bullets the Hill tracksters were nosed out after putting up a valiant stand. "Bob" Martin featured by making a brilliant finish to take first place in the mile event. This meet was held on April 25, 1935.

Hanover's trackmen took part in the 12th District Interscholastic Track and Field Meet, which was held at Shippensburg, May 4, 1935.

Four days later the history-making meet with Biglerville was held on Moul Field. I say history-making because this meet is the first ever held on Moul Field, in which an out-of-town school was the adversary. Hanover proved too much for the men of Biglerville, and accordingly won the encounter by a 72–45 score.

On Saturday, May 11, 1935 Hanover again took part in a meet at Gettysburg. This time the occasion was the Southern Pennsylvania Conference Meet in which Hanover, Gettysburg, Carlisle, and Shippensburg participated. Gettysburg succeeded in copping the first place honors, with Hanover finishing in second place.

The 1935 track season proved to be one of the most successful ever sponsored by Hanover High School.

TENNIS

The well-known sport of "Tennis" has at last found an active place in the sports calendar of Eichelberger Senior High School. This sport was introduced in this school in 1934, but did not become active as an interscholastic sport until 1935.

Coach Reehling was very much pleased with the number of candidates that responded to his call last spring, but he expects a still greater turn-out this year.

The following students made up the team of 1935 and received "H's" at the end of the season: "Mike" Rebert, "Bud" Kinneman, George Lawrence, Jack Hopkins, and "Bob" Lippy.

These boys, under the splendid coaching of Mr. Reehling, made a good showing against much larger schools, such as: John Harris and William Penn High Schools, and Gettysburg Academy.

Last year's schedule included eight games, but more games are anticipated for the coming season.

Although two varsity men were lost through graduation, the team expects to show the student body that they are able to come out on "the top."

During the first two years the boys had to furnish all their own equipment, but this year the school will furnish the nets and balls.

Due to the generosity of the class of 1935 and the Girls' Athletic Club two new courts were built and the two old ones will be repaired.

CHEERLEADERS

The cheerleaders were chosen in a somewhat different manner this year. When the call was given all the old cheerleaders appeared and quite a few additions. Regular practices, coached by Miss Hamm and Mr. Shively, were held for several weeks. Eliminations were then conducted. It was decided that there would be two squads, six each. The purpose for this was for the members of the associate squad to substitute for the varsity members when it was impossible for them to cheer at a particular game, and to give them experience for next year.

The varsity squad chosen was Charlotte Kinneman, Marjorie Gobrecht, Jean Stallsmith, Ray Swartz, Clyde Rohrbaugh, and Fred Shoemaker. This team practiced quite a bit, developed some new cheers, and started working together unusually well.

The student body co-operated with the cheerleaders very well this year, particularly at the football games. At several games student cheering sections were formed and quite a bit of yelling was accomplished.

The Hanover Cheerleaders met the cheerleaders that had come along with the opposing teams. They exchanged cheers, our cheerleaders leading cheers for our visitors, and they for us.

The cheerleaders that will probably receive their H's are Ann Thomas, Jean Stallsmith, and Marjorie Gobrecht.

September

4 First day of school! How do you like it, Freshies?
5 All the feminine hearts skip a beat when that tall, dark, and handsome Physical Ed. teacher passes by.
6 Everyone agrees that the "coach" knows more than football. Trig, for instance!
9 Formal introduction to new teachers in assembly!
10 There's nothing like a lot of home work the first week to get you used to it.
11 Buy a subscription to the Orange and Black? Ow! Why not?
12 There's nothing in a name. Maybe not, but when Fischer fishes she always catches something. Klunk isn't our idea of a poor fish.
13 Friday the thirteenth. Something terrible is going to happen to you, Suffer-mores.
16 Monday Assembly period. We get familiar with the song books.
17 First issue of the O. & B. (Look at the picture) Miss Snyder said, "Don't let him scare you." Blame Shakespeare, not Mr. Hendrickson.
20 First night football game ever played in Hanover. Go get 'em Night Hawks!! And Biglerville was taken 34–6.
23 Student Council pledged into office. Nice speech Stallsmith! Were you listening "Simie."
24 Did you notice how Mr. Boucher peps up the orchestra?
27 The Night Hawks are flying high. They wiped up Shippensburg with a score of 30–0.
30 To see or not to see (Julius Caesar) that is the question. Cheerful last act. Don't you think?

October

1 By the looks of the absence list, the York Fair must be a great success. Faculty had a good sun tan if they didn't get any fish on their trip to Atlantic City.
2 Our cheer leaders certainly can yell. "Moon" Rohrbaugh can yell louder than the whole student body. Maybe.
4 Political campaign for candidates for class offices. We are glad to hear that "Zeigler" is authorized to represent girls' sports. Can it be possible?
5 Hanover vs. Hagerstown at Hagerstown. We lost 33–7. Maybe the boys need the lights in order to win.
8 Six-weeks exams! OH! A's where art thou?
9 Elections for class officers. Eunice Arentz elected President without being on the ballot. May be she could tell us how to be popular.
10 Old fashioned pep meeting! There was nothing old fashioned about the way the students carried on! Or was there?
11 Mr. Shively presents his cheer leaders. The rain must have put a damper on our team because Columbia beat us.
14 Miss Brinser said, "I want no slang in my class. Get me!"
16 First Press Conference at Red Lion. "Hoff" had a good time, not to mention the dinner he ate.
17 Report cards given out. Was our face red???
19 Mechanicsburg vs Hanover at Mechanicsburg. Mechanicsburg made a touchdown the last few minutes of the game making the score 6–0.
22 Elliot James, Liquid Air Entertainment. We get cool receptions when we go to class without our assignments finished but they are never as cold as liquid air.
25 Hanover vs Carlisle at home. Carlisle won 6–0.
28 Blue Monday! Every Monday we see more of the song books. Maybe Miss Steininger thinks singing will keep us awake.
29 Orchids to Eric Barnitz for being elected Editor-in-chief of the Nornir. He'll probably earn it. Orchids to all seniors who helped produce this book. This is one way at least that we can afford to be so extravagent.
30 Miss M. Witmer has created quite a stir among the beau brummels of E. H. S.
31 Hallowe'en has arrived. Everybody is deciding just what they are going to wear. What were you?

November

1 Hallowe'en program in charge of Mr. Kennedy's home room. I am glad to say that no one fainted from fright. Football game between Hanover and Red Lion. Score 13–0 Hanover's favor.
4 Monday Auditorium. Another singing bee.
5 Sunday movies rejected by high school students as well as by the eligible voters.
6 Palmer Method practiced for fifteen minutes every day in Business English class after which finger movement is written for the remainder of the period.
8 First cheer given for Mr. Gray this year in assembly. Pep meeeting to get the students interested in the coming football game on Armistice Day.
11 Big football game with Waynesboro. Those Waynesboro mountaineers certainly were tall. Hanover did all her scoring in the first half. Score 32–12 in Waynesboro's favor. Trimmer received an injured shoulder and the rest of our team didn't feel so pert after the game either.
16 Football game with Chambersburg at Chambersburg. We lost again to the tune of 31–15.
20 Only three persons absent in the whole school in the morning. Another record broken.
22 Scenes of the Junior Play, "Boomerang," were presented in Auditorium. The play sort of got the best of Cleveland in the last act. Are you naturally shy, or must have provacy? Football game with G-burg. Too bad Hanover couldn't score (19–0).
25 Pre-Thanksgiving dance and party sponsored by the Student Council. A large audience of students and faculty were present to appreciate Mr. Metzler's dancing.
27 Miss Flickinger's home room took charge of Thanksgiving program. The play "She Made a Pumpkin Pie" was presented for the third time at school. Student body was dismissed for the Thanksgiving Holidays. That is something to be thankful for. Hanover played McSherrystown at night. Score 18–18. McTown will never get over it and neither will we.

December

2 Seniors use entire study periods for the purpose of seeing (as Mr. Bawn says) how the photographer has improved upon nature in the senior pictures for the Nornir. What the well-dressed band leader will wear! (Mr. Boucher wore spats today) Prosperity has arrived or maybe just cold weather. Mr. Bawn bought a new Plymouth. Shade: between a blue and a green. Decide for yourself.
3 Dietric Co., Magic and Music, presented a program in A.M. The best performance we shall ever see for 5 cents.
6 Dismissed from school because of Teacher's Convention. What a break!
9 All of we students who have known and loved Miss Slagle dedicate this space to her memory. Miss Slagle died Sunday morning at 1:30 o'clock. She will always be remembered among us for her unprejudiced kindness and thoughtfulness to all.
13 Friday the thirteenth! But it didn't spoil Mr. Metzler's musical program.
20 Christmas program in charge of Miss Buyers. Vacation starts. Hope the little Soph's don't get disappointed in Santa.
27 Basketball game with the Alumni. Score Alumni 21, Varsity 23. Miss Faber replaced Miss Brougher as instructor of French and dramatics.

January

6 School reconvenes. Not much fun getting down to the old grind.
7 Maybe we're seeing red but every other girl's hair seems to be red or in some stage of development. Maybe they're getting even with Santa Claus.
8 Comedy in P.D. class. Mr. Diehl asked Roland Warner what Mr. Kellogg (meaning the Mr. Kellogg that helped to draw up the Kellogg-Briand Peace Pact) was doing at the present time. Roland said he was manufacturing Kellogg corn flakes. Some wit for a senior!

. . . Hundreds will read it with vivid interest, for it is an historical record of a living year in high school activities. Many will read it in future years and live again in memory the days that are now so real.

Because of its immediate and future importance to the students of the class producing it, an annual demands the best in materials and workmanship — and careful attention to detail on the part of its printer.

It is strict "'ten-shun!" to every minute detail having to do with the production of a piece of printed matter which makes the finished job a product of quality. The 1936 NORNIR is the result of "'ten-shun!" to detail in printing. Close co-operation with the staff, and the skillful execution of their ideas, always with careful attention to detail, has made this book. . .

finest Nornirs produced by any Senior class. We have made the name Senior stand for success.

The curtain closes. But there is more. Each Senior will leave the stage and go out to live up to the standards set by the class of '36. Many curtains will open and close on many individual plays but back of all, there will be that first drama—the graduation of '36.

FOOTBALL SUMMARY

over played every bit as good a brand of ball as Waynesboro.

The Nighthawks journeyed to Chambersburg, November 16, to meet "Snap" Rines' boys. The Chambersburg lads, led by Chase and Napper, rolled up a 51–13 score in an interesting fashion. The Hawks scored in the second and third periods. Paul Grove ran 66 yards to score one of Hanover's 6-pointers. Lippy went across the line for the other.

Fourteen miles West of Hanover on the afternoon of Saturday, November 23, Hanover High School's Nighthawks met and bowed to the Little Bullets of Gettysburg High. Gettysburg was master of the situation from start to finish. Although Hanover was on the wrong end of a 19–0 score, the Hawks gave a good account of themselves.

November 23 was the last regularly scheduled game of the season, but a post-season game was held on November 27, with McSherrystown. On said date, one day before the turkey dinners were served, Central Catholic High School of McSherrystown made a valiant stand against the Nighthawks, and the tilt ended in an 18–18 tie. Hanover had the upper hand throughout most of the tilt, having made sixteen first downs to Central Catholic High's seven, and having gained 293 yards by rushing, as to 138 yards for McSherrystown.

BASKETBALL SUMMARY

Hawks. In the Eichelberger gymnasium the Hawks took revenge for the defeat administered by Gettysburg earlier in the season. The score was 38 to 35. This was Hanover's second consecutive win. The Bunker Hill five led 17 to 10 at half-time; although Gettysburg cut this lead and threatened. The Hawks succeeded in "bringing home the bacon." "Bob" Lippy accounted for 11 points, while "Johnnie" Trimmer chalked up 10.

The Nighthawks extended their winning streak to three games by sending Shippensburg down to defeat by the decisive score of 31 to 17. This game was played at Shippensburg, February 21.

Four days later, the Waynesboro Tornado blew into Hanover. The Hawks, after a determined stand, yielded and came out on the short end of a 26 to 19 score.

On February 28, the Hawks met our neighbors, Littlestown, on the foreign floor. After an exciting four quarters the score stood at 20 to 20. In the extra period the Hawks showed their superiority for the first time. The period ended with Hanover on top 25 to 20.

The windy month of March opened with a "bang."

The Hawks "got down to brass tacks" by surprising a strong, and favored-to-win Columbia High School five. Playing a brand of ball that did justice to a Hanover High Basketball team, the Hawks took the Columbia lads "across" 23 to 20. This battle was fought on the Eichelberger court, March 3.

Three days later, the Hawks played their last game on the Eichelberger floor. This tilt was lost to a strong Carlisle High five 37 to 27. This was also the last league tilt of the season.

The Nighthawks wound up the season at Red Lion on March 10, by losing to a scrappy Lion five 40 to 25. The tilt was close and exciting during the first half. Then the Hawks weakened and Red Lion was on top during the remainder of the fray.

The Hawks took part in the Dickinson College Basketball Tournament, but got only as far as the eliminations. Here again Red Lion gained a decision over the Hawks. This time the score was 31 to 30. After leading by 4 points, the Hawks grew careless and Red Lion took advantage of this carelessness to tie up the score and eventually win by one point.

10 The high school band gave its best musical rendition of the year in Assembly today. Miss Steininger's glee club was excellent also. Basketball game with Mechanicsburg. They won 27–21.
14 Basketball game with Red Lion. Let the bells ring out and the students shout. We won a basketball game. Score 38–23.
17 Short skit was presented by the all-star play cast in assembly. The play, Janice Meredith was presented in the evening before a large and appreciative audience.
21 Eric Barnitz, Editor-in-chief of the Nornir, etc., etc., was on the receiving end of a snowball thrown by a member of the fair sex and had to go to the Doctor.
22 Miss Henrietta (I don't hear silence) Flickinger wore a new dress today. You look very nice, Miss Flickinger.
23, 24, 25 Dr. Bingham spoke to the student body on the subject of building character. Mid-year exams. Some fun! Well, they can't expect us to know all the answers. Can they?
24 End of first semester.
28 The biggest basketball game of the season. Our grudge game with G-burg. Why did they have to beat us in the last quarter? 36–27.
28 We'll get them when they come to Hanover.
3 The Night-Hawks won their first Conference game tonight, with a score of 42–3'. Congratulations! Mr. Baugher's home room had charge of the Aud. program. A play entitled "A Perfect Secretary" was presented. The imperfect secretaries were excellent examples of the variety we have in our commercial classes. This doesn't mean you because there are exceptions to everything.

February

3 Mr. Baldwin has introduced a new plan of dismissal in Assembly. Many seniors don't like it because it doesn't give them a chance to parade before the under classmen.
4 Basketball game with Carlisle. 46–5 they won.
7 Well, we certainly show Chambersburg how to play basketball by losing the game to them 35–3'.
13 Claire Tree Major Group presented "Heidi."
14 Mechanicsburg beat us 37 to 19. Tough! Boy Scout program presented in Aud.
